A team from First Presbyterian Church, Greeley CO will be taking a team of 8-15 people to Langano, Ethiopia July 24 – August 3, 2014. Flights will be from and to Denver International Airport. They will be partnering with Sports Friends, a soccer camp ministry for boys (under SIM) held on the south end of Lake Langano, four hours south of Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

The approximate cost of the trip is $3,500 which includes airfare, food, accommodations for the project. This price does not include immunizations, passport, visa, etc.

Sports camps are a critical element of the overall Sports Friends strategy and a natural extension of their existing community-based ministry programs. Deep relationships are formed, the good news of God's love is shared, and campers are impacted for eternity. As these young people enjoy sports, games, crafts, music, good food, warm beds, and lots of love, they encounter God in powerful ways. The soccer camp has nearly 100 boys from several locations within Ethiopia. As you humbly sacrifice to participate in God's redemptive work, SIM believes it will be one of the best weeks of your life. You do not have to be a serious athlete to serve at camp. As you help with crafts, lead music, take pictures, administer first aid, or provide sports instruction, your primary role is simply to lavish God's love upon these young people.

The primary contact for FPC's team is Curtis Sears. Curtis.sears@gmail.com The team is currently being formed so please contact Curtis asap if you'd like more information or are interested in participating. There will be monthly training meetings, several fundraisers and other possible gatherings.

FPC has been sending teams to Camp Langano every other year for several years. If you would like more information about the ministry in general, contact Pastor Greg Ehlert at gregehlert@firstpresgreeley.org or 970-352-3030.
